ELEMENTS

(march 2024)

For a detailed presentation of the MAP database, see the User Guide: https://map-polytheisms.huma-num.fr/ressources3/guides-database-map/

1. Elements List

The list of elements is presented in the form of a table summarizing the information recorded for each element of the DB (see red box in the image above).

There are indicated (from left to right):

- the element ID, i.e. its numerical identifier in the DB (unique for each element)
- the absolute form
- the grammatical nature
- the translation(s)
- the invariant category/categories
- the action button allowing you to view the complete file (blue button *View).

From this page you can:

- filter the list of elements using the various search fields
- consult the other pages of the table

- select the number of elements you wish to display per page
- arranged one of the columns of the table in alphabetical, ascending or descending order using the arrows located to the right of the title of each column.

To find out more about these operations, cf. User Guide > Sources.

As a reminder, the element is the minimum unit of meaning within the testimony. This is a semantic and non-grammatical category. Here is the file for element #16, appearing in the testimony #21106.

This file is accessible from the list of elements (blue button View) or from the testimonies files in which the element appears (section Element, yellow action button). The direct link leading to the file is also indicated at the top of the page (see red box).

This file includes:

- General data on the element and the bibliography associated with it (see blue box)
- a general commentary space (see brown box)
- the list of testimonies in which the element appears (see green box).

3. Information included in the fields

Beta Code

This field only concerns Greek. The Beta Code transcription is in capital letters. Diacritics (smooth or rough breathings, accents, etc.) and the subscribed iota are not transcribed.

Nature

This is the grammatical nature of the element.

Heteronyms / By-Forms

This field indicates whether the element has one or more "equivalents". Several scenarios can arise:

- the element is a heteronym, that is to say an alternative and exclusive designation;

E.g.: Pallas for Athena.

- the element is a variant (dialectal or other);

E.g.: Pasios in Doric for Ktesios.

- the element has one or more equivalents in another language;

E.g.: Phoenician pp corresponds in Greek to both the adjective Πάφιος, α, ov and the noun Πάφος.

Built on

This field indicates whether the element is built on another. E.g.: Heraios built on Hera.

Location

This is specified:

- for toponymic elements; e.g.: Ephesos for Ephesios, a, on.

for topographical elements and/or referring to a space characterized by its function; e.g.: Epakrios ("Of the heights") > Topographies: "Heights (Mountain / Hill / Rock)" / Agoraios ("Of the agora") > Functions: "Public square".

Testimonies

This section brings together all the testimonies associated with the element which are recorded in the DB. In the image above, for example (see green box), the element Demeter (Beta Code: DHMHTHR) currently appears in 240 testimonies. These are listed in a four-column table including (from left to right):

- the action buttons (in green) allowing access to the complete file for each testimony
- the recorded onomastic sequence (in its original language)
- the position of the element within the sequence
- the element as it appears in the context of the testimony

It is possible to organize the columns in alphabetical, ascending or descending order using the arrows located at the top of each column (for this operation, cf. User Guide > Sources).

Annexe 1 : Liste des catégories de la base de données

Les mots-clés et exemples fournis pour définir et expliciter les catégories n'ont pas vocation à être exhaustifs ; ils sont exemplatifs.
